

Community Vision

The City of Jacksonville Beach is embarking on a journey to develop a “vision” for your community of the future. In order for this to happen, the City needs your help!

Over the next few months, the City will be hosting a series of “community conversations”. These conversations, consisting of you and your neighbors (residents and business owners), will tap into your aspirations for the City, and garner your ideas on how we can get there. Each meeting will be hosted by the City Manager and a member of City Council, so we can hear your thoughts first-hand.

The meetings are scheduled at various days, times and locations around the City. If you are interested in participating, please contact Chris Wright at 904-247-6268 to reserve a seat at one of the conversations. Attendance will be limited to one session per person, in order to maximize the number of individual participants.

We look forward to hearing what you have to say today, to create the Jacksonville Beach of tomorrow!
